

You shall be called repairers of the breach

— ISAIAH 58

Providing relief from natural disasters, food for the hungry, and support for the poor and oppressed.

Through One Great Hour of Sharing, we become the household of God. We extend shelter to those who have no place to stay, offer compassion to those who have pain—be it physical, emotional or spiritual—and we set a feast, with God, for those who lack access to enough food to eat. God’s household filled with love and everyone is welcome.

After living through years of drought and the death of her husband, Abdi was desperate to feed her children. The only option she felt she had was to leave her home and walk many miles to a camp for internally displaced persons to ensure the safety of her four young children and her unborn child. Against the background of Somalia’s civil war, the journey was fraught with danger, including the possibility of attack from armed groups and assault.

“We had nothing to take with us, and we had to beg for water,” she says.

Abdi’s mission to bring her children to a safe refuge was successful. Now she and her children receive a monthly allocation of food that One Great Hour of Sharing gifts help provide.

“The food aid has improved the living conditions of my family,” she says. “I am able to feed my starving children.”
